Alcohol Abuse Audit C for Screening

Western Behavioral Health is concerned about the potential risks that alcohol use can pose to our members. We encourage providers to screen all members for a coexisting alcohol or substance abuse problem. If undetected or untreated, hazardous drinking can contribute to treatment noncompliance, poor treatment response and other complications.

The AUDIT-C is a screening tool that can help identify people who are hazardous drinkers or may have other problems with alcohol.

Q#1: How often did you have a drink containing alcohol in the past year?

A score of four or more is considered positive for men; in women, a score of three or more is considered positive. Generally, the higher the score is, the more likely it is that the drinking could be affecting a member’s health and safety.
